

Precursor of the digital video cameras, the Super 8 camera captured family memories.

And Head Like Kite, aka Sushiroo guitarist Dave Einmo, makes good use of those filmed by his parents back in the 70s on his solo debut Random Portraits Of The Home Movie (Pattern 25 Records).

Einmo samples sound snippets from his parent's films which he blends to charming effect with sunshine indie pop (A Dime And A Cigarette and Noisy At The Circus) and dubby ambient noodlings (Tell Momma You Want A Sip Of Beer and My Crystal Trousers), and more besides.

Aided by various pals from the Seattle music scene, Einmo has produced one of those eclectic albums which is unlikely to reach too many ears, but those lucky enough to chance upon Random Portraits are in for a treat.

Leamington Spa Herald Observer

18/10/06